Article II Commitment

Quotations by public figures pertaining to the GNU:

"I am very confident that Zimbabwe will come out with an answer to the problems of Zimbabwe, including the constitutional dispensation." Prince Guduza Dlamini, president of the Southern African Development Community's (SADC) Parliamentary Forum – 2 October 2009

"South Africa does not have a credible foreign policy on Zimbabwe because we have not consistently applied diplomatic pressure on Zanu PF to live up to the Global Political Agreement (GPA). We have not applied quiet but firm pressure via intelligence and defence on those around Mugabe to exit and not be spoilers. We have not invested in the unity government to get basic services restarted - without which the whole GPA deal is dead, and we have not provided real assistance in helping the Government of Zimbabwe to normalise relations with the rest of the world, especially the International Monetary Fund and World Bank." South African representative to the SADC Parliamentary Forum – Wilmot James, 5 October 2009

"Our country remains in a positive stance to enter into fresh, friendly and cooperative relations with all those countries that have been hostile to us in the past." President Robert Mugabe, 6 October 2009

"We are not pulling out of the inclusive government. If we disagree with other principals in the inclusive government, we will consult the people on the way forward because they have the mandate to make us stay or pull out. Mugabe and Zanu PF should not however fool themselves and misjudge our tolerance for ignorance." Prime Minister Morgan Tsvangirai – 17 October 2009
